

Let us have articles betwixt us

*Papers in Historical and Comparative Linguistics
in Honour of Johanna L. Wood*

*Vikner, Jørgensen
& v. Gelderen (eds.)*

Let us have articles betwixt us

*Edited by Sten Vikner,
Henrik Jørgensen &
Elly van Gelderen*

Let us have articles betwixt us

*Papers in Historical and Comparative Linguistics
in Honour of Johanna L. Wood*

Let us have articles betwixt us

*Papers in Historical and Comparative Linguistics
in Honour of Johanna L. Wood*

Edited by
Sten Vikner, Henrik Jørgensen & Elly van Gelderen

Department of English
School of Communication & Culture
Aarhus University
2016

Let us have articles betwixt us –
Papers in Historical and Comparative Linguistics
in Honour of Johanna L. Wood

Edited by
Sten Vikner
Henrik Jørgensen
Elly van Gelderen

© The authors, 2016

Lay-out: Kirsten Lyshøj
Cover: Kirsten Lyshøj & Sten Vikner
The map of London is from Georg Braun & Frans Hogenberg's
Civitates Orbis Terrarum, 1582.

Printed by SUN-TRYK, Aarhus University.

ISBN (print): 978-87-91134-03-6
ISBN (e-book): 978-87-7507-359-7
DOI: 10.7146/aul.119.107

Contents

Preface	8
Werner Abraham Event semantics aligned with Bech's status of the verbum infinitum	11
Cynthia Allen The definite determiner in Early Middle English: What happened with þe?	43
Maia Andréasson Subject placement in Estonian Swedish	83
Torben Arboe Gender and number peculiarities of uncountable nouns in Jutlandic (Western Danish)	99
Merete Birkelund Translating the implicit	111
Ken Ramshøj Christensen The dead ends of language: The (mis)interpretation of a grammatical illusion	129
Paola Crisma and Susan Pintzuk An from Old to Middle English	161
Susana Fernández Possible contributions of ethnopragmatics to second language learning and teaching	185

Elly van Gelderen Impersonal and referential null pronouns: some thoughts	207
Camilla Søballe Horslund I don't know why did they accept that: Grammaticality judgements of negation and questions in L1 Danish and L1 Finnish learners of English	221
Eva Skafte Jensen Changes in the properties of the noun in Danish – evidence from the indefinite article	261
Henrik Jørgensen Doubling left syntactic positions in Danish	281
Alexandra Kratschmer, Ocke-Schwen Bohn, Giulia Pierucci, Jocelyn B. Hardman and Diego Gavagna Individual differences in foreign language learning success: a psycholinguistic experiment	299
Sharon Millar Extremist discourse and internationalization	319
Jerzy Nykiel The history of so that and the CP cycle	341
Anne Mette Nyvad Multiple complementizers in Modern Danish and Middle English	361
Henning Nølke The paradigmatic adverbials reexamined after 35 years	379

Joost Robbe
Are there cases in fifteenth-century Dutch?
A 'case study' of an Utrecht manuscript (1464)	397
Ole Togeby
The borderline between irony and sarcasm	421
Sten Vikner
English VPs and why they contain more than just verbs	439
David Willis
Incipient Jespersen's cycle in Old English negation	465

All contributions have undergone peer review.